THE CLIENT

DPD (Dynamic Parcel Distribution, formerly known as Parceline), logistics provider to the telecommunications, entertainment and retail sectors. A leading brand of GeoPost UK, DPD is wholly owned by Groupe La Poste, the second largest postal group in Europe.

PROJECT

New 13,200m² (140,000ft²), 320m (1,213ft) long hub distribution facility in Oldbury, West Midlands, comprising extensive mezzanines, offices, staff amenities and a 6,500m² (70,000ft²) underground car park. The site also includes a separate office, security and canteen building, a vehicle maintenance facility and extensive external works.

SERVICES PROVIDED

Under the £4.7m project, PWP Building Services developed a full Electrical, Mechanical and Data Services package including the integration of a site 3.5 MVA electrical supply, two 1.5 MVA standby generators and the installation of data services and specialist car park ventilation.

The proposals were developed in consultation with the client at the pre-tender stage, enabling services vital to the client's operations to be delivered smoothly and efficiently in conjunction with other contractors.
